British Financial Editor Scheduled for Talk Here

Harold Wincott, editor of the "Investors' Chronicle," England's leading financial paper and British equivalent to the "Wall Street Journal" will be the next speaker in the lecture series sponsored by the San Jose State college Lecture Committee, Dr. John T. Wahlquist announced last week. Tentatively scheduled to speak Nov. 23, the hour and place have not been decided upon.

Wincott has worked on at least three financial papers in the past several years. He has used the pseudo "Lex" and "Dutch Uncle." His co-workers now call him "Uncle Harold."

A student of Keynesian and Rooseveltian economy systems, Wincott has often been termed the "poor man's economist" because he has the ability to reduce the complicated language of his field to terms understandable to the layman.

He also is somewhat of a financial prophet and was the only economic authority to foresee the British coal shortage of 1950.

The British editor was born in London and educated at Hornsey County school.

At the present time he resides in Surrey with his wife and five children. His oldest son is finishing preparatory school, equivalent to the American junior high school, and has demonstrated a talent for journalism.

PEGGY MAJOR

Office Expects Alumni Crowd

From 300 to 400 alumni are expected to attend the reunion and dance at the Hotel DeAnza after the Homecoming game Nov. 7, according to Miss Peg Major of the Alumni office.

"We expect a large number, since the game is on a Saturday night," Miss Major said, and added that approximately 250 were present at the reunion last year.

"The students have made a sincere effort this year to schedule Homecoming activities at times convenient for the alumni to attend," she stated.

Oral Reading Hour Given Wednesday

The combined classes of Dr. Dorothy Kaucher and Dr. Lawrence Mouat will present an Oral reading hour Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. in Room 127.

Wilson To Appear

Leslie Wayne Wilson, charged with burglary, is scheduled to appear before Judge Percy O'Connor Nov. 5 at 3 p.m. in Municipal court, dept. 1, it was disclosed at his arraignment Friday.

Prosecuting Attorney Bill Tarr of the Student Court has reported that 11 persons violated poster regulations at the recent ASB election. Violations included illegally placed posters, posters that were too large and posters which were not taken down before the 6 p.m. deadline.

Named as violators by Tarr were Paul Sakamoto, president of the Junior class; Carol Kennedy and Lee Yip. These three were running for class offices.

Homecoming Queen candidates reported by Tarr were Cam Kammerer, Barbara Baker, Eileen Burke, Kay Dennis, Jean Hird, Pat Doherty, Alyce Holland and Lynn Best.

Tarr said that he would request the Student Court to meet sometime this week to take action against the election violators. He reported that Kay Dennis has dropped out of San Jose State college.

West To Capitol

Joe H. West, dean of students will be in Sacramento today and tomorrow attending a meeting of the state colleges committee on health services. Resulting from this meeting will be recommendations for the health programs of the ten schools included in the division of state colleges.

State Board Tours College

Two accreditation teams, one from the Western College association, the other from the State Board of Education, will be on campus Nov. 9 and 10 to survey and inspect the college for the purpose of finding whether the college is suitable for accreditation, according to Dr. James C. DeVoss, executive dean.

The state board will conduct its inspection, as it does every five years, in conjunction with the Western College association through each department.

Advance plans were laid for the accreditation procedure a month ago, with the scheduling of the operation laid out to allow the teams to survey in a more efficient fashion.

The college Journalism department, under Dr. Dwight Bentel, professor of journalism, will undergo a separate inspection from the rest of the college by a special representative of the Western College association.

Queen and Princesses Receive Lovely Gifts

By VIRGINIA GAUCH

Trish Meyers, a sophomore from Lafayette, will begin her reign today as the San Jose State college Homecoming Queen.

A capacity crowd of approximately 4,000 witnessed the crowning Friday night at the Coronation Ball in the Civic Auditorium.

Trish, sponsored by Kappa Kappa Gamma, was chosen from the five finalists who were named earlier. The remaining four candidates are to be her attendants in the royal court. They are Conni MacLean, Delta Sigma Phi; Jeanne McAllister, Sigma Nu; Jayne Peterson, Arnold Air Society; and Virginia Watson, Phi Sigma Kappa.

Landlords Ask Conduct Code

Friday afternoon more than 100 landlords and landladies stated that there was a need for uniform codes of conduct and contracts between City of San Jose householders and San Jose State college students.

Dr. John T. Wahlquist, president of the college, explained that the college is not liable for the contracts made by the students, but was very interested in the conduct of the students. He stated that disciplinary action would be taken to enforce rules of conduct, if necessary.

Dissatisfaction was expressed by many of the householders concerning fraternity and sorority rushing. The property owners maintained that persons persuaded to join the organizations were recruited into fraternity and sorority houses and revenue was thus taken from the proprietors of local boarding houses.

Two committees will be formed to set rules of conduct and contracts. One will deal with male students, the other with female.

During the meeting, Dr. Wahlquist outlined some of the things which a college student has the right to expect from the householder. He quoted statistics which disclosed that only 16 per cent of the college's 7113 students live at home. About 15 per cent commute. This means that approximately 70 per cent rent apartments and rooms in San Jose.

Amid gold and white decorations, the five contestants were escorted to the stage of the Civic auditorium at 11 p.m. where Jim Bernardi, Homecoming committee chairman, introduced them.

A thunderous applause filled the auditorium as Bernardi named Trish as queen. She was then escorted to the seven-foot throne, and a rhinestone crown was placed on her head, officially proclaiming her queen of San Jose State college.

She was presented at this time with a 20-inch engraved trophy and a bouquet of yellow roses. Each attendant was given a six-inch engraved trophy and an arm bouquet. Sponsoring organization, Kappa Kappa Gamma, also received a trophy.

The gifts that Queen Trish received from local merchants included a $7.50 merchandise order from Coleman's; $10 merchandise order from Dohrman's; white and silver stole from Elwoods; choker from Lean Jewelers; a carton of Chesterfield cigarettes from the campus representatives.

Merchandise order from A. Hirsh and Son Jewelers of $5; $10 merchandise order from Hart's; $5 merchandise order from Woolworth's; yellow lambs wool sweater from Roos Bros; slippers from Blooms; three pair of hose from Thelma Richardson's; cigarette case and ash tray from Lion's.

A box of candy from O'Brien's; merchandise order from McWhorter-Young; merchandise orders from Hale's and Appleton's; merchandise order from Gallenkamp's; roses from Navlets; casarole set from Kay Jewelers; stuffed toy dog from the Spartan Shop; four one-pound boxes of candy from Hoefler's; $10 purchase order from Nathan-Dohrmann; and personal items from Montgomery Ward.

Mani Guest of KT

During his week's stay in San Jose, Indian educator Korah Madayil Mani was the guest of Kappa Tau fraternity, according to Dr. William R. Rogers, acting head of the Education department. The fraternity provided his needs while here.

Panel Reports

Elmo Robinson, chairman of the fairness committee, reported that the group's Friday meeting has studied the possibility of providing aids to classes interested in questions of fairness.

He also reported that the committee is at present in the process of revising a pamphlet completed by the committee in April, 1951, which is given to all new faculty members.

Self evaluation manuals were completed of the major part of of the self-survey and 25 copies were sent to the State Board of Education and 15 to the Western College association.

The pamphlet, "Manual of Accreditation Procedures," was by a faculty committee and sent to the accrediting groups to aid the teams in the two-day tour.

According to Dean DeVoss, the self-survey and manual aids San Jose state faculty members to better understand their own institution and fosters inter-departmental unity.

Dr. DeVoss pointed out that most of the college faculty aided in the survey and said, "Cooperation of the college faculty in the self-evaluation was splendid."

SPARTANS DEADLOCK EAGLES

Last Period Rally Saves Spartans

By KEITH KALDENBACH

Coach Bob Bronzan and more than 30 Golden Raiders breathed a collective sigh of relief in the dressing room Saturday night following their 13-13 performance against a surprising North Texas State eleven.

Bronzan was pleased that his team didn't give up after trailing 13-0 going into the fourth quarter, and the Spartans were pleased that they were able to pull up to a tie ball game in the closing minutes.

One disappointed man in the group was Quarterback Larry

Rice whose conversion attempt, following the Spartan's second tally, went wide to the left. A perfect placement at that point would have given the Golden Raiders the game they were favored to win by a margin of at least seven points.

First half of the contest ended in a prophetic 0-0 deadlock, but the Eagles began to show their power in the opening minutes of the third quarter. The Spartans took the second half kickoff and, after failing to gain a first down, Quarterback Larry Rice kicked out of bounds on the Eagles' 45-yard line.

From that point the Texans moved 55 yards in seven plays to go out in front by a 7-0 score.

The game took on a repetitious pattern at this point when the Golden Raiders took the kickoff and again failed to get a first down. Rice kicked and the Eagles took over on the Spartan 45-yard line this time. Eleven plays later the Texans crossed the San Jose goal for the second time and went out in front by a 13-0 score.

The Spartans got back in the game four minutes into the fourth quarter following Roy Hiram's recovery of an Eagle lateral on the Texans 37. In seven plays the Spartans had seven points of their own when Larry Matthews took a lateral from Larry Rice for the TD. Rice converted and the score stood 13-7.

Two plays after the kickoff, the Golden Raiders again got a break when Matthews recovered an Eagle fumble on the Texan 27. Three plays later the score was all tied up at 13-13 and the partisan crowd held its breath as Rice attempted the conversion. A loud groan went up as the kick went wide to the left and the game remained deadlocked.

The Eagles made a last ditch attempt to pull the game out of the bag when Fullback Gene Bahnsen tried a field goal from 24 yards out. It was wide to the left and the game ended one minute and 14 seconds later in a 13-13 tie.

How the stars got started

ANNE JEFFREYS dreamed of being an opera star, studied long and hard. BOB STERLING could have been a pro athlete, but chose the long, hard pull of acting. Both eventually won good parts on stage, radio, TV. They met on a TV show . . . sang an impromptu duet . . . became Mr. & Mrs. in real life . . . and "Mr. and Mrs. Kerby" in TV's brilliant, new "Topper" program!
